

It is with regret that we advise you that the Australasian Mining History Association Conference, planned for 9-14 November 2020 at Bathurst is now cancelled owing to the circumstances surrounding the COVID-19 virus health crisis. This decision has been made after consultation with the Organising and the Advisory Committees in consideration of the health of AMHA members, conference registrants and the community. While we hope that the emergency have dissipated by November, because of the uncertainty and noting that recovering from the disruption to normal schedules may prevent people from attending in November, this decision has been made reluctantly.

While the cancellation of the 2020 conference in Bathurst is a great disappointment for all of us, it has been agreed in discussion between the Bathurst and Burra organizing committees that, as planned, the 2021 AMHA Conference will take place at Burra, South Australia, and the 2022 Conference at Bathurst.

Secretary AMHA
