The Journal of Australasian Mining History accepts papers relating to historical aspects of mining, mining archaeology and heritage in the Australasian region, though consideration will also be given to contributions that will be of general interest to mining historians. Book reviews will also be commissioned. All correspondence should be directed to the JAMH Editor at: drlyndon@bigpond.net.au.

The Journal is divided into refereed and non-refereed sections and the papers published in the refereed section will have been subject to a double-blind refereeing process. The final decision on publication will lie in the hands of the editor.

Articles will normally be accepted on the understanding that they have not been previously published and are not under consideration for publication in another journal. Before submitting a document, obtain the Instructions to Contributors from the editor, or view on the AMHA website at: <<https://www.mininghistory.asn.au>> under Journal Information.
